

Portal icon definitions

Home Dashboard

This account contains a meter that is classified as 'non-potable'. This water is not fit for human consumption.

A potential leak has been detected in this account.

This account contains more than one meter.

No alerts are activated for this account. Click this icon to activate alerts.

No data is being received for this meter.

High water use has been detected for this account.

You have marked this account as Home.

Account Dashboard

View water meter information.

View your consumption at water meter level.

This is the current meter reading as of XXX. If the reading is significantly different to your actual reading, click here to let us know.